

15 Degrees of Blue Table Runner

Designed by Kerry Glen

The instructions for this runner are a guide only. You can adjust the length to suit your requirements by adding more or less 15deg wedges.

The requirements listed for the backing and border are generous and eliminates the need to piece the borders and back. If you are using a kit purchased from me then you are required to piece one side of the border. I have used the Phillips Fiber Art Bargello Colour wheel 15 deg tool and also their "Cut A Round Tools for the cutting of my circles.

If you wish to make your own template trace off and add 1" to the bottom.

15 Degrees of Blue Tablerunner

Requirements

10 Fat eights

1 fat Quarter (Accent fabric)

2 metres fabric for Backing and Borders

1. Cut 4 15 degree pieces from each fat eighth = 40 pieces. I used the 15 degree tool from the Phillips Fiber Art Pattern Bargello Colour Wheel. I have attached a template if you do not have the tool.
2. Cut 4 x 1" strips from the accent fat quarter join to measure 2x 75". Set aside the remaining fat quarter.
3. Cut 4' strips from the length of your border fabric. (If using the fabric kit for this quilt, cut 1 x 4" strip from the side of the longer piece of fabric, the balance is for your backing. Cut 2x 4" strips from the narrower strip of border fabric.
4. Join each 15 degree blocks top and tailing eg

Ensure that the shades of blue are distributed over the full length of the runner. Try not to have the same fabric facing the same way to close. Spread the lights mediums and darks.

5. Cut circles out from your remaining fat quarter. 1x 8" 2 x6" and 2 x 4" (I used the Phillips Fiber Art Cut around Tools. You can use plates.
6. Iron on a stabiliser to the back of each circle and couch decorative threads across in straight lines.

Eg

Why not try some of the decorative stitches on your machine. Press well and set aside. Do not trim your threads.

7. Your accent lengths should measure 75' fold in half lengthwise and press well.
8. Lay strip along the edge of your 15 degree blue top completed in step 4. Cut edges should match the raw edge with the fold facing to the centre.
9. Stitch exactly 1/4" down the length. Repeat on the opposite side.
10. Place the border fabric on to the runner, right sides together down each side and pin in place.
11. Stitch on the border .I place the border on the machine base and have the previous stitching line showing so that I maintain an accurate line which has the accent strip equal size all the way along the length.
12. Press borders and strip towards the outer edge.
13. Place the circles. Start from the centre of the runner and work outwards.(I used my hand width as a measure.) As per picture. Appliqué using whatever method you prefer ensure that you tuck in the loose couching threads as you go. (I used a machine buttonhole for my quilt.)
14. Trim each end square .Your runner should measure 18 1/2" x 74". My quilt was bagged out. However you could use a conventional backing and binding method. If preferred. But you will need additional fabric for binding.
15. For quilting, I ditch stitched each seam, along the length of the Accent strip and around each circle with a couple of straight lines through the middle.
